DETAILED ACTION

1. In view of the arguments filed on 5/17/10, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. As set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

- (1) File a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,
- (2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) The invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 25 – 27, and 29 – 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rutkowski (U.S. 5,806,849).

Regarding claims 25 and 30, Rutkowski discloses a method and apparatus of providing at least one media center to provide electronic game data for one game to at least two game players of said game who play the game at the same time in concert, ("an unlimited number of controllers may be interfaced with the game unit to allow an unlimited number of players to play a game at the same time", col. 5, lines 53 - 55 and fig. 1), separating the game data so that separate game images may be provided for each of the game players who play the same game and such that the game images for each of the players may be different in at least some respects, ("allows an unlimited number of controllers to be used with the same console", col. 2, lines 38 - 39), receiving game control commands from said players using separate wireless controllers and identifying which commands originate with each of said game players by appending tags to said game control commands so that a command from one player is distinguished by said media player from a game control command received from the other player, ("the controllers of the system are preferably wireless controllers which send control information to the console in the form of radio frequency signals", "each controller transmits on a different frequency so that console can determine which controller is sending which control signals", col. 3, lines 18 - 25).

Regarding claims 26 and 31, Rutkowski discloses including associating game data with tags, each tag indicative of a different player, ("each controller transmits on a different frequency so that console can determine which controller is sending which control signals", col. 3, lines 18 - 25).

Regarding claims 27, 32, and 33, Rutkowski discloses providing controls which each game player may utilize to provide input commands to the media center, ("controller preferably first comprises a user interface for accepting user input, col. 3, lines 52 - 54).

Regarding claims 29 and 34, Rutkowski discloses enabling a controller for each player to wirelessly use a different frequency to wirelessly communicate with said media center and enabling said media center to provide game data to each controller using a different and distinct frequency for each game controller, ("the controllers of the system are preferably wireless controllers which send control information to the console in the form of radio frequency signals", "each controller transmits on a different frequency so that console can determine which controller is sending which control signals", col. 3, lines 18 - 25).

Regarding claim 35, Rutkowski discloses multiplexing video game data with a particular tag to a particular buffer based on the detected tag, ("by multiplexing lines, in the manner described, an unlimited number of controllers may be interfaced with the game unit to allow an unlimited number of players to play a game at the same time", col. 5, lines 53 - 55 and fig. 1).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 25 – 27 and 29 - 35 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
